PUBLICATION POLICY

3.1 Purpose

The policy will regulate the process of preparation, review, submission, authorship, and publication of the research output coming from the institution.

3.2 Statement of the Policy

All publications emanating from the institutional activities shall be accurate, ethical, clear, and correctly attributed. Authorship of such publications shall demonstrate intellectual input and involve the approval of the final draft by the author.

3.3 Authorship

Authorship by gift, ghost, honor, and without authorization is forbidden. The corresponding author is responsible for ensuring ethical conduct and correct attribution of authorship.

3.4 Submission rules

Any submission that is based on institutional data, institutional sources, and/or institutional funding will require inclusion of ethics statement, conflict of interest, and funding details respectively. Double submission, double publication, and citation manipulation are not allowed.

3.5 Journal quality

Authors must refrain from using predatory journals and should opt for reputable peer-reviewed journals.

3.6 Open access

The organization supports responsible sharing of research through open access or repositories whenever journal policy and confidentiality issues permit.
